OUR TOP DOCTORS

Portland Monthly's exclusive guide to the top 330 physicians in 33 specialties, as chosen by their peers. Compiled by Mark Martin

Finding the right doctor can sometimes be a difficult challenge. Without a good recommendation from someone you trust, you'd have to resort to scanning the Yellow Pages or picking at random from the list of physicians in your health plan. That's why Portland Monthly commissioned its own survey of local medical professionals. Here are their recommendations.

What doctor would you call if you, or a loved one, needed medical care?

That's the question we asked some 6,000 Portland-area physicians and registered nurses in a recent confidential survey generated by Portland Monthly. Ballots were mailed to physicians and nurses in Clackamas, Marion, Multnomah and Washington Counties, as well as Clark County in Washington. Names and addresses were provided to us by Name-Finders Lists Inc, a regionally based list retailer that derives its data from current White and Yellow Pages. Additional ballots were made available to area group medical providers whose physicians are not individually listed in the phone book. Medical professionals were asked on the survey to nominate doctors—in up to 36 different specialties—to whom they would turn in a time of medical need. We received more than 550 completed ballots (an estimated 9 percent return), and—after deciphering the doctors' handwriting (the nurses tended to follow our "print clearly" directions more often than the docs)—we were able to log a total of 10,149 official votes across all categories.

Making the List

A minimum required number of votes was determined for each category, based on the total number of votes that category received. Specialties that were more heavily voted on (e.g., general surgery, OB/GYN) generally produced more winners than more specialized categories (e.g., adolescent medicine, geriatric medicine). Winners are listed alphabetically within their specialty field. Pediatric specialists are listed after adult specialists in each category, when applicable. Physicians who have indicated to us that they are no longer accepting new patients are noted with an asterisk after their name.

It is important to remember that these are some of the area's best doctors in 33 of the most popular specialties. There are hundreds more who no doubt provide excellent care, and a survey of patients might well have produced an entirely different list. The 330 names here were decided upon by a jury of medical peers, which may or may not be an accurate barometer of what makes a great clinician. But for those in search of a new doctor, or perhaps a specialist, Portland Monthly's list is a good place to start.

For each physician listed, license status was verified (at press time) as "current" and "active" by either the Oregon Board of Medical Examiners or the Washington State Department of Health, depending on the state in which the doctor is primarily based. You can check any doctor's current status through the following resources:
